Investment Committee briefing | Private-credit shortlist | Prepared for the 12 December meeting

Purpose. This briefing records the committee materials for a proposed $12,000,000 allocation. It compares two shortlisted vehicles only: Northmere Interval Credit Fund and Harrowgate Private Credit BDC. All figures below are supplied for committee comparison; no recommendation is made in this packet.

Terms used in this briefing

Net yield is the stated annualized distribution rate shown below, net of the fee load shown below, as of 30 November. It is a stated rate, not a forecast. Fee load is the annual net operating-expense percentage supplied by each vehicle. Leverage is debt divided by net assets as of 30 November; a lower figure is presented as lower leverage, not as a safety guarantee.

Product and quantitative comparison

Item	Northmere Interval Credit Fund	Harrowgate Private Credit BDC
Vehicle form	Interval fund: offers scheduled repurchase offers.	Non-traded BDC: not exchange-traded; offers a periodic share-redemp
Net yield	8.20% annualized distribution rate, net, as of 30 Nov	9.10% annualized distribution rate, net, as of 30 Nov
Fee load	2.30% annual net operating expenses	1.80% annual net operating expenses
Redemption / repurchase	Quarterly repurchase offers for up to 25% of NAV; 45-day notice before the program	Quarterly redemption program for up to 5% of NAV; 45-day notice befo
If requests exceed capacity	Repurchase requests are accepted pro rata.	Redemption requests are accepted pro rata.
Leverage	0.25x debt / net assets as of 30 Nov	0.65x debt / net assets as of 30 Nov

Interpretive guardrail

A redemption or repurchase request is a contractual mechanism, not a statement that cash will be received immediately or in full: each program is periodic, subject to its stated capacity, notice period, and possible pro rata acceptance. The supplied terms therefore make Northmere stronger on the contractual redemption comparison. The stated leverage figures make Northmere stronger on the leverage comparison. Harrowgate is stronger on the net-yield and fee-load comparisons.

Committee assumptions for this allocation

The proposed $12,000,000 allocation is intended as a five-year allocation. The Foundation does not expect to need this capital for operating expenditure in the next 18 months. The committee has not set a minimum yield target. In selecting between otherwise suitable shortlist candidates, it has asked that controlled contractual access to capital and continuity of investment leadership be weighed alongside stated income and cost.

Harrowgate leadership transition and recorded concern

Harrowgate's founding credit officer left in June. The appointed successor has not yet managed a full credit cycle. At an informal discussion, Ludmila Escamilla, the Foundation chair, said that the transition could be a reputational and key-person concern for the Foundation. This is a committee concern to address; the materials contain no finding or allegation of misconduct and do not establish how the successor will perform.

Scope note

These are the supplied committee materials for the two shortlisted vehicles. They do not provide ratings, tax outcomes, legal conclusions, portfolio holdings, insurance or capital protection, or additional diligence results.
